Less arduous than a push mower, a lawn tractor or riding mower covers a lot of ground in little time. There are a few factors to consider as you make your choice.Different Types of Riding MowersNot all riding mowers are created equally. In fact, there are a few different types to choose from, and it depends heavily on what type of yard you're trying to maintain. Some curvy, bumpy yards will require a mower with a large turn radius while smaller, flat yards can make do with a simple mower. Some choices include:Rear engine riding mower: This is the smallest type of all the riding mowers and is the easiest to use and maintain. They take up less space and are well-equipped for smaller yards (one acre and under). However, they cannot take attachments and don't have a high turn radius. Lawn and garden tractor: Don't let the name "tractor" throw you off _ essentially, these are large riding mowers. They are tough and durable and cover a lot of ground. You can hook up attachments to them, they can cover yards well above an acre, and the turn radius is moderate. Zero turn mowers: These mowers are tough and durable like lawn tractors but are the best choice for bumpy, hilly yards or yards with many curves. Such as with a lawn tractor, they do take attachments as well. Some Features to ConsiderThere are other features to consider when looking for a tractor and mower for sale other than turning radius and power. Some other features that homeowners find important are:Cutting width: A mower with a larger cutting width can get a job done in less time but may not be ideal for smaller spaces. Top speed: A mower with speeds of up to 13 mph provides great efficiency. Price: The least inexpensive mower model, when purchased new, is slightly less than $1,000. For this reason, homeowners may look to used ride on mowers for sale for a more economical choice. Differences in TransmissionWhile differences in a riding mower's transmission may not help its efficiency, it will contribute to how easy a tractor is for you to use. The type of transmission a mower is equipped with then becomes quite important. As you're researching used mowers for sale in Ohio or other states, do pay attention to the type of transmission. You will generally find:Manual transmission: Just as with a manual transmission vehicle, you will have to shift through different speeds as you are mowing. Some mowers include a clutch, but most do not. A manual has up to six speeds. Automatic transmission: Also similarly to a car, this only has several speeds and no clutch. The speed is then controlled by how much pressure you put on the gas pedal. Hydrostatic transmission: A hydrostatic transmission makes no difference as to how you operate the vehicle, but it means that that the mower uses fluid instead of belts, which offers you a smoother ride while working. Used vs. new mowersThere is absolutely nothing wrong with looking for old mowers for sale for a more economical choice. However, just as with a car, it's a good idea to have the mower thoroughly checked over by a mechanic before purchase. Have the mechanic check the transmission, tires, belts and motor before you agree to buy.Riding Mower MaintenanceWhether you're looking for greenfield mowers for sale, other brands or a sickle mower for sale, they all require maintenance. Generally speaking, this is a once-a-year chore you take care of in early spring. Most mowers require the same amount of maintenance. Make sure you check the fuel and oil levels before every use. During the mowing season, make sure parts are lubricated and belts and fasteners are tight. Never operate the mower if the blades seem loose. At the end of the season, disconnect the battery and the spark plug wires to help save battery life when you're not mowing. MORE FROM QUESTIONSANSWERED.NET Kubota riding lawn mowers are top of the line, with plenty of models to choose from. If you're looking to buy one, basic research for prices of new Kubotas can help you make sure you get a good deal. Here are some great options to consider.Check Kubota DealersWhen it comes to getting information on new Kubota lawn mowers, there's not many places better than official dealers. Of course, these locations may also have the highest price tag. But you can be sure you're getting the best possible mower, with the chance to enroll in the Orange Protection Program. That means you can get extended warranties on your items for an extra couple of years, which isn't a bad idea considering that Kubotas are pricey. Plus, many dealers have service centers to help keep your mowers in tip-top shape.Even if you're not planning on purchasing a mower at a dealer, it can be worthwhile to call and find out what they're asking for the model you want. That way, you can understand the market value of what you're looking for.eBayWhile most people associate eBay with buying items and having them shipped, there are Kubota lawn mowers available on the site that are available for local pick up. That should save you money in shipping costs when buying used. Or, opt to have it shipped to you. Unlike Craigslist, there's buyer protection so if the item is not as described, you have the option to return it.CraigslistConsidering how big Kubota lawn mowers are, getting a good deal might require you to find a used one close to where you live. Craigslist is a great resource for local sellers. However, since you'll likely be dealing with an individual rather than a company, be sure to do your due diligence before handing over the cash. Make sure the item is in good working order, and ask about any repair or servicing history before making a decision.Tractor HouseWhile you might be able to find Kubota lawn mowers on many auction sites, Tractor House is a good option because it specializes in machinery. If you're open to buying a used mower, you can oftentimes get a good deal. You can see how Kubota riding mower prices are in the secondhand market, and check inventory from around the country. Shipping is available, but it can get expensive depending on how far away the mower is located.Machinery PeteSimilar to the Tractor House, Machinery Pete is an auction site that specializes in selling used equipment. There's a large number of Kubota lawn mowers available there, and the equipment is categorized according to HP. That makes it easier to browse for what you're looking for. MORE FROM QUESTIONSANSWERED.NET The Troy-Bilt Pony lawn tractor uses a blade driven by a pulley system on the mower deck to cut grass smoothly and evenly. With regular use, the blade can become bent, dull, chipped or cracked, resulting in uneven or poor cutting performance. The Troy-Bilt operator's manual recommends inspecting the blade frequently for wear and sharpening, or replacing it as needed to maintain safe, effective performance. Park the tractor on a sturdy, level surface. Set the power takeoff lever (PTO) to the "Off" position. Set the parking brake. Adjust the attachment lift lever to the lowest position. Turn the ignition key to the "Off" position and remove it. Lift the engine hood and disconnect the spark plug boot from the the spark plug, located at the front of the engine. This prevents the tractor from starting accidentally. Locate and remove the belt keeper rod from the engine pulley on the mower deck. Remove the screw that holds it in place using an adjustable socket wrench. Remove the belt from the idler and engine pulleys. Remove the cotter pin from the deck support rod located on the left rear side of the mower deck. Remove the hairpin clip that supports the deck rod on the right rear side of the deck support rod. Remove the deck support rod from the mower deck. Raise the attachment lift lever to the highest position. Slide the mower deck forward and unhook it carefully from the stabilizer rod. Locate and remove the hairpin clip and spring that secures the PTO cable in place at the rear of the mower deck. Disconnect and remove the cable. Slide the mower deck out from beneath the tractor on the right side, taking care to avoid touching the sharp blades. Flip over the mower deck onto a flat surface so its underside is facing up. Put on a pair of heavy gloves to prevent injuries from the sharp blades. Slide a block of wood between the blade and the center deck housing baffle to prevent the blade from moving. Remove the hex flange nut from the blade with an adjustable socket wrench to release the blade. Sharpen or replace the blade, installing it with the word "Bottom" facing up. Reinstall the mower deck following the entire process in the reverse order.
